Scenario:
You are a motivational speaker with quite the busy life, because of this it can be hard to keep up with multiple speeches, what they are for, and practicing them becomes difficult. You need a way to organize said speeches, and be able to prepare to deliver them on the go.

Task 1: Create a new folder named University of South Carolina speeches, and successfully save 2 separate speeches inside of it.

Task 2: Share a speech with a friend that works for the University to have them proofread it, after which make edits and save the new speech.

Task 3: Use the practice mode to practice a speech for the University of South Carolina.

Notes
3 things to change:
1. Instead of having the share options appear under the "..." change it so there is a tab for sharing options, making it easier to interact with.
2. Change the practice button to a tab and have it at the top of the screen while also adding the option to practice directly from documents.
3. Change it so that you are automatically signed in, and do not have to log in everytime.

3 things to keep:
1. The icons that differentiate individual speeches from folders.
2. The search functionality that is usable both in the main menu which houses everything, as well as inside of a folder.
3. The ability to edit, share, and delete speeches from within a speech file and not just from the menu.
